

Mashable

Krantz's work is also characterized by her ability to tell a story authentically, without being necessarily sad. Her series By His Side, for example, documents the recovery of a triple amputee veteran. The photos show his story as one of perseverance and joy, rather than one of tragedy.

9. Stephanie Sinclair

stephsinclairpix
Follow

Stephanie Sinclair is a photojournalist for National Geographic and the founder of the nonprofit Too Young To Wed, which aims to protect girls' rights and end child marriage.'

Sinclair's photos have brought more attention, and action, to the issues women face.

She documents sensitive human rights topics internationally, with a focus on gender issues.

Some of Sinclair's most frequent subjects are child marriage and self-immolation. Her photos have been successful in bringing more attention and, more importantly action, to the issues women face in more underdeveloped countries with problematic traditions.

10. Malin Fezehai

